

ChristCare has made a difference in my life because.....

...of the love and comfort of the group. Anxiety in the heart of man causes depression but a good word makes it glad. (Proverbs 12:25)

...I have been able to get to know women better, who I only said "hello" to before. We pray for all who need to be remembered and these prayers have helped me to cope more than once.

...it has given me trusted groups of friends with whom I can study God's word and apply it to my life with accountability.

...I spend more time in prayer and in reading the Bible and other Christian literature. It has also given me a wonderful group of Christian sisters.

...I have met some people I would never have gotten to know. It has allowed me to express my feelings about God and learn a lot about life in the church. I have come to know God lives with us and in us. It has allowed me to share with others.

...I used to think that I wasn't good enough to call myself a Christian. But now I have more faith and trust even though I still have doubts. I'm proud to be a Christian.

...it gives me the Christian community I have been seeking. It is a gift for me to meet with a group of wonderful women to study and share, to care for one another and reach out to others. I feel blessed to have found this group within my church.

...I feel more at peace from being accepted in a company that is caring and trustworthy and joyfully seeks and gets understanding of God's word and prayerful support.

...it provides a place and a means by which to serve. The structure keeps me centered.

...I feel a part of a group that trusts in God. We study scripture and share our lives with each other. In doing mission work I feel I'm answering God's call.

...of going into the Word on a regular and disciplined way. Also, sharing the Word and praying with my brothers is very meaningful to me.

...it is an opportunity to study God's word in a group environment.

...it has brought me back to the scriptures and close to Jesus. I have grown in my faith significantly over the past few years.
