

ChristCare has made a difference in our church because.....

...of the love for others.

...I notice so many people already ready to help and to be more friendly to all.

...more and more are coming into closer fellowship with Christ and with each other.

...it has made our church family closer and more connected with each other. The caring that's experienced in small groups is extended to others in the church and through our missional service projects to people outside our church.

...it has brought people together. The groups help each other and other people. They work within the church and outside to reach people we would never know. They promote the caring we all need to share for each other.

...so many people join ChristCare groups to study the word of God. Before that, probably there was only one Bible study group although I was in that group.

...there is more interaction among members with God's word.

...I have seen so many studying God's word and growing to a much deeper faith level.

...There is a stronger bond with people who pray and study and work together doing God's call in their lives.

...it increases the fellowship among the congregants. We not only share with others in our church but also with those in our community.

...it brings church members together in Christian fellowship and bonding.

...it has created greater involvement and understanding of each other's concerns and needs and how we can help and comfort one another.
